F. The city is home to 296.18 hectares of mangroves according to People's Daily.

IV.语法填空(共 10 题，每小题 0.5 分，共 5 分)

As Chinese New Year celebrations become popular worldwide, traditional Chinese performances ___46___ (win) audiences' hearts in other countries so far. ___47___ the first day of the 2024 Chinese New Year, audiences in London were amazed by a Yingge dance team from Puning, Guangdong province.

Yingge dance comes from the Chaoshan area of Guangdong province. In the Ming Dynasty, local festivals ___48___ (hold) by people with Yingge dance performances. Yingge means "Heroes' Song". It is considered as the dance of fighters because it is closely related to the classic novel ___49___ (call) Water Margin (《水浒传》). The dance is ___50___ mixture of Chinese opera, dance and Wushu. Performers each dress as one of the 108 characters of the Liangshan Mountain. They all wear opera-style facial makeup. The different colors and patterns on their faces show their roles. ___51___ (dance) wave a pair of short sticks and make powerful movements. Among them, the character ___52___ holds a snake in his hands is the lead dancer "Shi Qian". His style of dancing is thought to keep away evil spirits (驱邪). Following the ___53___ (succeed) performance in London, the Yingge performers plan to continue ___54___ (they) international tour, "This is just the beginning," said Chen Laifa, the dance team's coach, "We want to spread the beauty of Chinese culture ___55___ (wide) across the world."

The meals are low in sugar and have good protein. This helps students learn about managing their weight and avoid health problems from bad eating habits. It also encourages students to develop healthy eating habits that may last a lifetime.

Besides offering healthy food, universities are trying other ways to improve students' health. At Dalian University of Technology, there is a special course for students who are overweight. Students can join a 21-day program or a longer course. These courses teach about exercise and healthy eating, and offer support for mental health. The first group of 33 students finished the short course and lost more than 130 kilograms in total. Some students also saw their high blood pressure get better.

(C) 16. Why are light meals offered at Sichuan University?

A. Hot dishes are not as popular as light meals now.

B. Many students have trouble getting used to hot dishes.

C. Light meals are helpful in improving students' health.

D. Light meals cost less and take less time than hot dishes.

(D) 17. What does the underlined phrase "taken aback" in Paragraph 3 probably mean?

A. Angry. B. Worried.

C. Disappointed. D. Surprised.

(B) 18. How did the writer show the advantages of light meals?

A. By listing numbers and doing surveys.

B. By listing numbers and giving examples.

C. By asking questions and giving answers.

D. By giving examples and making comparisons.

(A) 19. What was Hu Wen's attitude towards the new menu of light meals?

A. He was satisfied with it. B. He doubted if it was practical.

C. He didn't think it was a success.

D. He thought it needed improvement.

(C) 20. What can we infer from the passage?

A. Universities are asked to make some changes to their menus.

B. Universities are required to satisfy students' different food needs.

C. Universities are trying different ways to help students stay healthy.

D. Universities are expected to offer students different kinds of exercises.

D. The struggles of the lady at the food bank.

B (建议用时:9分钟)

1 A lot of students at Sichuan University in Chengdu are choosing healthier meals instead of the hot dishes the area is known for. The university now offers light meals to help students eat better and manage their weight. They have quickly become popular among the students.

2 One meal choice includes quinoa (藜麦) and red bean rice, meatball soup with bok choy (白菜), stir-fried bok choy, and an apple. This meal has 479 calories and costs only 9.5 yuan. Another meal choice is for those who want more protein. It includes stir-fried beef with celery (芹菜) and steamed fish.

3 A student named Kaka is from the College of Software Engineering. He was taken aback by the healthy rice choices like brown rice. These types of rice are good because they don't make blood sugar levels rise quickly. Kaka said these meals have lots of vegetables and good protein, which are important for staying healthy.

4 Hu Wen, the head of the nutrition department at the university's West China Hospital, said that the new menu follows important health guidelines.

(下转B3版)

exercises.

C（建议用时：10分钟）

1 You take a vacation day but can't stop worrying about unfinished work. Or you sit down to watch a movie and immediately feel guilty (愧疚的) about jobs on your to-do list. Though relaxing sounds simple, for many people, it's surprisingly challenging.

2 Erin Westgate, a professor of psychology, started a study to test the effects of short mental (精神的) breaks. She asked some people to simply sit and rest for a few minutes during busy days. "We expected people would find it enjoyable — that it would relax them and improve their health," she explained. However, Westgate found that doing nothing is difficult because most people aren't used to thinking without turning thoughts into immediate actions. Psychologist Michelle Newman held the same opinion. She said people have a feeling of discomfort or boredom when slowing down. There's a strong belief in their mind that they should always be busy doing something useful.

3 Today, we often consider productivity better than rest, which makes relaxation less necessary. Studies show people are driven by what they believe they "should" do. When they don't work for these expectations and choose rest — guilt ensues.

4 Interestingly, guilt isn't always bad. Those who often feel guilty may be more productive workers. Yet this doesn't mean rest is unimportant. In fact, scientists believe that relaxation is necessary for health. Chronic (慢性的) stress damages people's mental and physical health. It may cause heart disease and other serious illnesses, and may even lead to early

III. 语法填空（10分）

Xi'an is the capital city of Shaanxi province. It lies in ____36____ north of China. The city's history ____37____ (connect) with Liu Bang, who started the Han Dynasty and made Xi'an his capital. He gave it the name Chang'an. During the Tang Dynasty, Xi'an ____38____ (achieve) its great importance. Korea and Japan followed Xi'an's example in ____39____ (build) their ancient capitals.

Many things from ancient times can still be ____40____ (easy) found in Xi'an today. The city wall—one of the few city walls still left in China—is a good example. It goes around the city and is an important cultural site (遗址). In central Xi'an there is the Bell Tower—____41____ (large) bell tower remaining in China. The bell was first designed as an emergency alarm (警钟) to warn of danger. ____, it was very often used to tell people the time.

While Xi'an is a city ____43____ a long history, it is also very much a part of the modern world. It is best known as a center for software (软件) research, development and services. Historically, Xi'an has always been a city of art, industry and business that have placed it far in front of many other ____44____ (city).

Xi'an is a city always remaking ____45____ (it) and looking forward, all the while keeping the best of the past.

death. On the other hand, regular rest improves overall health and the quality of life. Learning to relax isn't a waste of time; it's a skill that could protect your life.

5 If you find it difficult to relax, start small. Find moments each day to practice sitting quietly. It might be uncomfortable at first, but as time goes by, your brain will make relaxation easier. Remember: relaxation is not something you earn after finishing everything — it is something your body and mind need in order to keep going.

(B) 21. What did Erin Westgate study?

A. The importance of breaks.

B. Different ways for people to relax.

C. The influence of mental relaxation.

D. Ways to improve people's mental health.

(D) 22. Why is it difficult for people to do nothing?

A. People hold different opinions on what they should do.

B. People are afraid of being sick if they stop their work.

C. People are always asked to improve their productivity.

D. People always ask themselves to do something useful.

(B) 23. What does the writer mainly talk about in Paragraph 4?

A. The necessity of rest. B. The importance of guilt.

C. Diseases caused by guilt. D. The cause of chronic stress.

(B) 24. What's the best title for the passage?

A. The help of guilt: how to work better

B. The necessity of rest: how to spare time

C. The joy of working: why people hardly rest

D. The guilt of relaxation: why rest feels wrong

(C) 25. Which of the following best shows the structure of the text?

A. ①②③④/⑤ B. ①/②③④/⑤

C. ①②/③④/⑤ D. ①/②③④⑤

第二节 短文填空（建议用时：8分钟）