期中复习之语法填空16篇

（深圳专用）

阅读下面短文并填空，并将答案写到答题纸相应位置。

Yuan Longping was born in Beijing in 1930. In his youth (青年时期), he was sad to discover that many Chinese people suffered from hunger. After leaving college in 1953, Yuan spent nearly 70 years __1__ (research) this problem.

He believed deeply that "food is the most important thing in the world." He dreamed of developing more productive rice __2__ (seed).

However, it was easier said than done. Over 3,000 of __3__ (he) experiments failed. "Failure is very common in __4__ (science) research," he once said. "Every time I fall down, I'll get up and try again." He travelled around China to realise his dream. He said, "I never stopped, __5__ a bird going after the warmth of the sun." Finally, he succeeded in developing new kinds of rice plants. One produced 30% more rice than normal plants. Another could grow in the poor soils which cover large areas of China. __6__ Yuan didn't stop there. He had an even __7__ (great) dream: a rice plant that would feed the whole world. Later, age made it more difficult for him to work. However, Yuan just moved his house next to the rice fields!

Yuan __8__ (die) in 2021 in Changsha. However, his great dreams still live __9__. His rice is grown around China and in about 60 other countries. His lifelong efforts in the __10__ (explore) of rice seeds have helped to feed 80 million more people a year. Yuan is remembered as a national hero for helping build China into a modern socialist country. His example continues to encourage people to follow in his footsteps.

Beethoven was one of the greatest composers of all time. He was born in 1770 in Germany, and at __1__ age of four, his father began to teach him to play the piano. He was __2__ (surprise) that Beethoven was so talented.

In 1787, Beethoven visited Vienna, Austria. It was said that he played to the famous __3__ (music) Wolfgang Mozart. Mozart was sure __4__ Beethoven would become very famous. When Beethoven's mother became seriously ill, he returned home. After her __5__ (die), Beethoven took care of his two younger brothers because his father couldn't. He became friends with some people and with their help, he moved to Vienna in 1792 __6__ (study) from the famous composer Joseph Haydn and lived there for the rest of his life.

Beethoven played the music which ___7___ (write) by other people and became famous ___8___ a performer, but he also liked to compose his own music. While composing, he played his songs on the piano to hear how they sounded. He would rewrite his music over and over until he was pleased with it.

Around 1798, Beethoven began to realize something wrong with his hearing. At first, he had difficulty ___9___ (hear) high notes. Later he couldn't hear his own music. Finally, he was totally deaf. Although he couldn't hear, he kept playing and composing music. Beethoven composed some of his greatest pieces of music when he was almost ___10___ (complete) deaf, including the "Symphony No.9".

阅读下面短文，用正确形式填空。

Yang Zhenning is one of the ___1___ (great) physicists in the world. Born in 1922, he passed away in Beijing on October 18, 2025, ___2___ the age of 103. Yang had a strong love for science. When he was young, he studied hard and went to the US for further education. In 1957, he ___3___ (win) the Nobel Prize in Physics with Li Zhengdao, which brought him worldwide fame. Besides his great ___4___ (science) success, Yang loved his motherland deeply. In 1971, he was the ___5___ (one) top scientist to return to visit China after 1949. He helped build links between Chinese and American scientists, and raised money for Chinese scholars studying abroad. In 1999, he began working as a professor at Tsinghua University. He spent lots of time ___6___ (do) teaching work and research, founding the Institute for Advanced Study to push China's higher education.

He once said, "Chinese culture is always in my heart." He received the "Touching China 2021"Award in 2022, inspiring lots of young Chinese ___7___ (research). Yang Zhenning's life was not only a great legend in science, ___8___ also a bridge linking East and West. His 100-year journey became ___9___ unforgettable (难忘) part in human knowledge history. His lifelong devotion to science and his motherland is truly admired. He cared deeply about the future of young Chinese scientists. We will always remember this great man.

His story tells us it is very important ___10___ (keep) working hard. It can lead us to success.

阅读下面短文，在空白处填入一个适当的词，或填入括号中所给单词的正确形式。

On 25 September 2017, the scientific world was shaken by the news that Chinese professor Zhong Yang died in ___1___ car accident. The well-respected biologist spent his whole life ___2___ (research) plants and seeds. Over the years, he has ___3___ (collect) many important seeds for China's seed banks.

Zhong Yang was born in 1964 . When he was young, he showed a deep love for plants. He ____4____ (enter) university at 15 and later became interested ____5____ plants. When Zhong Yang found there was not enough research on the seeds from Xizang, he went there to collect seeds ____6____ (him). The weather was 7____ (terrible) cold and the roads were hard. They travelled along ____8____ (danger) mountain roads. He sometimes fell sick, ____9____ he never gave up his work.

He trained local students to be scientists. Together, he and his team collected more than 40 million seeds from over 1,000 kinds of ____10____ (plant). Their hard work provided lots of new information.

Zhong Yang left behind a huge collection of seeds. His love for research lives on in his students. He once said his students would continue the scientific exploration in the future.

阅读下面短文，在空白处填入一个适当的词或填入括号中所给单词的正确形式。

The Fields Medal (菲尔兹奖), often called the "Nobel Prize of mathematics", is one of ____1____ (high) honors in maths. It ____2____ (give) every four years to young mathematicians (数学家) under 40 around the world. In 2026, Hong Wang ____3____ (make) history. She became a mathematician from China who won the Fields Medal.

Hong Wang was born in 1991 in Guilin. From an early age, she developed a great interest ____4____ maths. At 16, she entered Peking University. Later, she went to France and the US for further education. ____5____, her journey was not always easy. With many excellent classmates around her, she sometimes doubted herself. She even spent half a year ____6____ (learn) architecture (建筑学) before finally returning to maths.

After hard work, she succeeded in solving a famous difficult math problem. She and her partner built a new way and finally made it. Her work helps ____7____ (scientist) explore hard problems, including those in math and physics.

Since winning the prize, Hong Wang ____8____ (draw) lots of attention worldwide. Many people on social media congratulated Hong Wang on her great achievement and felt ____9____ (pride) to see Chinese mathematicians shining on the world stage of maths. And her story inspires teenagers to believe in ____10____ (they) and keep trying for their dreams.

阅读下面短文并填空，然后将答案写到答题卡的相应位置（如有提示词，则填入提示词的正确形式：如无提示词，则填入 1 个恰当的单词）。

Huang Xuhua, known ___1___ the "Father of China's Nuclear Submarines" (中国核潜艇之父), spent all his life ___2___ (work) to build the nation's underwater defence (防御) system. Born into a poor family, he showed an exceptional (非凡的) gift from an early age. At that time, China had little experience in this field, so he put ___3___ (he) to work fully and led his team to do a number of dangerous ___4___ (experiment) to test the submarine's safety.

For thirty years, Huang returned home only at most once a year, missing his children's ___5___ (grow) and family meetings, which made his family live joylessly without knowing his whereabouts.

Finally, in 1970, China's first nuclear submarine set sail ___6___ (success)—the moment that made the whole nation cheer. When reporters asked him about his feelings, he said, "I feel lucky to have spent my life on something meaningful for my country." Over the past years, he ___7___ (reply) countless times that he has no regrets about his choice back then. "It's all worth it for our country's greatness." He often encouraged young scientists, "The key to success is trying your best ___8___ (manage), even when facing difficulties."

In his old years, Huang still kept at what he loved most, ___9___ (include) guiding young researchers and sharing his valuable experience. His story tells us that true greatness lies not in name, ___10___ in quietly following one's heart.

阅读下面的短文，在空白处填入 1 个适当的单词或括号内所给单词的正确形式。

Have you heard of Wu Daozi? He was one of the ___1___ (great) of all Chinese artists. He was known ___2___ his own way of painting with excellent skills.

Wu was born in ___3___ poor family when he was young. After his parents' death, his life became poorer. It was hard for him ___4___ (support) himself. He began to learn painting from folk artisans (手艺人) at that time.

To learn to paint landscapes, Wu spent time ___5___ (travel) with a painter and went to many places with mountains and rivers. Also, he became the first ____6____ (art) in Chinese art history to turn landscapes into a new kind of painting.

Besides landscapes, Wu became ____7____ (interest) in painting human figures (人物) too. He would watch real-life people carefully before drawing them, ____8____ his characters looked lively and powerful.

Wu ____9____ (create) more than 300 amazing murals (壁画). So far, his great works ____10____ (influence) countless Chinese painters. No wonder people consider him as the "Sage of Art (画圣)".

阅读下面短文，在空格处填入一个适当的词或括号中所给词的正确形式。

Anna lost her arms in a car accident when she was a child. What's worse, she lost her parents ____1____ the age of twenty. Her sister, who was ten years ____2____ (old) than her, wanted to take care of her. However, Anna refused ____3____ (live) with her sister, saying that she would like to take care of ____4____ (she). She managed to enter college and studied very hard. Four years later, she ____5____ (graduate) and found a job. Once she wrote in her diary, "I am quite lucky. I lost my arms, ____6____ I still have my legs."

Anna chose to face her misfortune (不幸) in an active way. Instead of feeling sad, she ____7____ (decide) not to let it hold her back. She taught us a good lesson. When something bad happens to us, we have two choices. One is to complain (抱怨), and ____8____ other is to face it bravely. If we choose to run away, the ____9____ (difficult) will follow us wherever we go. If we decide to be strong, new hopes will come. So choose ____10____ (wise).

Who would have thought that Albert Einstein, ____1____ famous German - American scientist from the early 1900s, would make it into the news these days? But that's ____2____ (exact) what happened. Recently, his handwritten work notes about the theory of relativity (相对论) went up for auction (拍卖).

Einstein, along with an ____3____ (Italy) engineer Michele Besso, worked together for several years on a scientific paper. They hoped to come up ____4____ a mathematical equation (数学方程式) to explain the theory of relativity. It ___5___ (involve) the factors of energy, mass and light.

They ran into ___6___ (problem) and stopped working on it, but Besso saved the written papers anyway. Einstein didn't successfully finish the work ___7___ he realized that gravity also needed to be considered. He finally published a paper about it on his own in 1915. After all these years, the 54 pages of notes were recently put up for auction at Christie's (佳士得拍卖行) in Paris.

The buyer's name was not released, but the manuscript (手稿) is one of ___8___ (expensive) scientific papers ever bought. One has to wonder ___9___ the owner is going to do with those notes. Frame them? Keep them in a vault (保险库)? Resell them ___10___ (make) even more money? Only time will tell.

阅读下面短文，在空格处填入一个适当的单词或使用括号内所给词的正确形式填空。

Fu Lei was a famous Chinese translator and writer. Between 1954 and 1966, his elder son Fu Cong lived far from home, training as a piano player. ___1___ (write) letters became Fu Lei's usual way to talk with his son.

The book Fu Lei's Family Letters ___2___ (show) the family's tradition and values. To Fu Lei, education was not only ___3___ family matter, but also something with great social value. The goal was to make a person ___4___ (use) to society. Fu Lei praised Fu Cong after he won a piano competition. "We are ___5___ (true) happy because you make your country proud," he wrote. "I am so excited when I think about your future. You will make great progress and serve more people."

In the letters, Fu Cong ___6___ (tell) to read famous Chinese books. When reading these books, he should connect ideas ___7___ feelings, for that would help him become a better person.

The book helps many young people understand how they should live ___8___ (they) lives. Fu Lei's words have let people know that being a good person matters most.

Fu Lei's Family Letters is not just a book about music ___9___ a book about life. It shows that a father's love can give a son the ___10___ (strong) to face any challenge.

阅读下面短文，在空格处填入一个适当的词或使用括号中所给词语的正确形式填空，并将答案填写在答题卡规定的位置上。

Many people draw on the paper, but few paint on stones. And that is ____1____ (exact) what Mo Wuying is doing. The artist from Chongqing has been doing this for more than eight years. And ____2____ animals she paints on stones are very vivid.

The poses of animals ____3____ (decide) by the shapes of the stones. Mo says it is an art form that requires creative ____4____ (idea).

According to Mo, the first step is to draw the outline of an animal on a stone. Then she colors it ____5____ (make) it lively. After that, she adds all the details (细节).

Driven by her love of painting from a young age, Mo has been improving her stone painting skills for years. ____6____ first, she tried her hand at scenery and characters. In the past three years, she has focused on painting animals. Mo ____7____ (finish) hundreds of stone paintings so far. "The longer I work on it, the ____8____ (interesting) I find it," said Mo proudly. She sometimes even forgets to eat or sleep ____9____ the painting takes up all her attention.

"It is relaxing to paint on stones and makes ____10____ (I) more patient," said Mo, adding that she would continue working on it.

在空白处填入一个适当的单词或用括号中所给单词的正确形式填空，使短文内容完整。

Many teenagers meet different kinds of problems in their daily life. Some have difficulty getting on with their parents. Their parents make almost all the ____1____ (decide) and are too strict ____2____ them. Every time they try to communicate, their parents will either lose ____3____ (patient) or just stick ____4____ their own ideas. They wonder ____5____ or not they can truly understand each other.

Some students suffer from heavy study stress. They can't manage time well. They often stay up late ____6____ (finish) homework and feel tired in class the next day. Some waste plenty of time ____7____ (play) video games and regret it later. Some love sports but worry their schoolwork will suffer.

If you have these problems, don't get yourself down. It is normal for teens. You can turn to your teachers or close friends for some useful ____8____ (advise). ____9____ (stay) positive is also helpful for you. It's important for you ____10____ (keep) a balance between study and hobbies.

阅读下面的短文，在空白处填入一个适当的单词或用括号内单词的正确形式填空。

When you were young, your parents ____1____ (make) decisions for you, such as what to wear, what to eat and when to go to bed. You needed that because you were too young to take care of ___2___ (you).

When you grow up and become a teenager, you have your own ___3___ (opinion) and thoughts and can decide for yourself. But your parents aren't used to the new you—they only know you as a child. Relations between you and your parents become difficult. This can cause a lot of ___4___ (argue) between you and your parents. You want to cover your walls with your favorite ___5___ (star) posters; they don't understand why you don't like your wallpaper anymore. You think it's not ___6___ big deal to hang out with friends after school; they don't allow you to do that.

You get ___7___ (happy) because you feel your parents don't respect you and don't give you space to do what you like. Your parents get angry ___8___ you disagree with them. You may feel too much pressure and even hate ___9___ (stay) at home.

The good news is that your parents will ___10___ (final) understand you if you communicate with them as often as possible. It can take several years for them to get used to their new roles, though.

阅读短文，在文中空白处填入 1 个适当的单词，或用括号内所给单词的适当形式填空。

Teenage years are a time of rapid growth and change. Many teenagers ___1___ (experience) physical changes that make them feel ___2___ (comfortable). Some worry about their appearance and feel ugly. Others struggle with changes in mood. They may feel happy one moment and sad ___3___ next.

It is also common for teenagers ___4___ (have) problems with friends. Sometimes, they may ___5___ (ask)by their friends to do things they don't want to do. It can be hard to say no because they don't want to risk 6___ (lose) the friendship. Some teenagers even feel uncomfortable around ___7___ (stranger) and don't know how ___8___ (communicate) with new people.

However, it is important to remember that they are not alone. Almost everyone goes ___9___ these problems. ___10___ they are feeling bad, they should talk to an adult or a friend they trust. There is always help on the way.

Last week, our class held ___1___ discussion about teenage problems. Many students shared their experiences ___2___ us. The discussion lasted for two hours.

Amy said she had too much homework and had no time ___3___ (do) things she liked. She felt very 4___ (stress) every day and sometimes couldn't sleep well at night.

Tom said his parents didn't allow him ___5___ (go) out with friends on weekends. He felt lonely and _ 6___ (happy). He didn't know how to talk to his parents about his feelings.

Our teacher listened to us ___7___ (care) and gave us some ___8___ (advise). She said it was important for us to communicate with our parents. She also suggested that we should make a plan for our study and free time. This can help us manage our time well.

After the discussion, we all felt much ___9___ (good). We learnt that ___10___ (talk) about problems is the first step to solving them.

阅读下面短文，在空格填入一个适当的词或括号中所给词的正确形式。

My Family's Film Stories

My grandpa loves talking about old films. He often says, "How amazing it was to watch films in the open air when I was young!"

___1___ we now have a big TV at home, grandpa still misses those old days. Last week, our family received an invitation to a "classic film show" in the park. It was our ___2___ (one) time to watch an old film together outside.

Since my cousin moved to our city last year, he has joined our family activities. He was so excited ___3___ he asked his friend to come too— but we told him we could only take three people. He felt a little sad, but soon became happy again because we promised ___4___ (take) him next time.

When we ___5___ (get) to the park, the show hadn't started yet. My mom brought some snacks, and I helped her take them out. "This is a ___6___ (gold) chance to share grandpa's memories," my mom said.

___7___ (final) , the film started. It told a story about a brave boy. After watching it, my cousin said, " ___8___ a wonderful story it is! I want to learn more about old films."

Grandpa smiled and said, "Films have changed a lot, but the feelings they bring are always the same." We all agreed with him. That night, we felt very ___9___ (happily) — we not only watched a great film, but also spent a nice evening with our family.

On the way home, my little sister said, "I think this is the best family activity I've ever had!" I nodded, and grandpa put his arm around us. I knew this moment would become ___10___ special memory for all of us.

When we got home, my dad turned quiet for a while. Then he said, "Let's have more family film nights like this!" We all agreed and cheered.